

ACCOUNTING AND ADVISORY SOLUTIONS FOR THE

CANNABIS INDUSTRY

Running a business is complex.

But running a business in a new industry with extreme regulations, and its own tax law, gives a whole new meaning to complex.

Whether you're a cannabis grower, retailer, dispensary, or investor – that's why it's so important to align with a CPA that understands the ins and outs of the industry.

Headquartered in New Jersey, Alloy Silverstein Accountants and Advisors has experienced professionals who have immersed themselves in the intricacies of cannabis business operations. Founded in 1959, the firm has extensive experience in working with established and emerging businesses in key industries that are tied to cannabis operations, including agriculture, retail, real estate, logistics, and more.

Nationally recognized for client service excellence, you are guaranteed a responsive relationship with an Alloy Silverstein CPA and advisor. We pride ourselves on being a growth partner to our business clients, helping your business be optimized in the back-end, so you can focus on growth and building your business.

There are a lot of uncertainties in running a cannabis business right now – but be certain that you're in good hands with Alloy Silverstein.

Why invest in a CPA early on?

Now that cannabis is legal at the state level, there are only a finite number of available licenses. Make sure you have an experienced CPA that can walk you through the startup and licensing process and be an advisor to you as your business grows. You don't want to do ANYTHING that will inadvertently red flag or disqualify your licensing application.

A CPA can set the foundation for your business and help make critical connections. Making the investment upfront to have an advisory team in place and making the right decisions early on is invaluable and will set you on a successful path for growth.
